REPORTS ON ST. JAMES' THE N. G. C. REGIMENTS

Griticism and mendation for the Boys in Blue.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., October 26.—Major A. C. Ducat, of the seventh infantry, U. S. A., who had been detailed by the adjutant-general of the United States army to visit the encampments of the National Guard of California, has submitted his report, copies of which have been filed with Governor Pardee and Adjutant-General Stone. Major Ducat's report is an extended one, covering nearly 100 typewritten pages. He criticises the troops to some extent but he is not severe.

Speaking of his visit to the camp of the First regiment at Santa Rosa in June, he says the regiment is a good one and did its work well. The camping space was small, he says, and brought the tents of the officers and men too close together.

In the drilling there were fewer mistakes than Major Ducat expected to see. The sham battles, guard mounting and bridge building, he says, were well done. There was lack of uniformity in the matter of dress. Some men had cap ornaments and some had not. There was a varigated assortment of shirts and shoes. The soldlers messing was good.

The regiment, he said, was much handicapped by the number of officers and men absent. They could not leave their employment without danger of losing their positions. Speaking of the enlisted men, the major says they are rough and ready and make fine troops. Physicians and hospital corps were absent. He suggests that schools for officers and soldiers should be estiabilished. ing was good.
The regimen cers and soldiers should be established on drill regulations and guard rannual.
The men were careful about seluting, but some officers were careless about returning salutes. He reports favorably on the regiment but says it needs some improvement. He spoke of the fact that kens of cold beer were opened, in each company after drill which backened the thirst. There was no deput the says in the same of the same says in the says in th

The plaintiffs ask that they be adjudged owners of one-half the hotel property and the defendants be adjudged trustees.

At another time one of the Knitters hit a ball that was going on a line petween left and center and looked good for three bases. Jerry Dennichy, who was playing a deep short, threw himself high in the air and caught the sphere with his bare hand. This was certainly robbins the Cantner-Matterns out of a nice sit, as they could have used it handsonely at that time. At another time Jerry went after a hard chance while a man was on first, and in order to get the ball he was pulled off of his feet, but he threw the ball to Ireland while he was lying on the greund and forced the man at second. At another time one of the Gantner-Matterns hit a skimmer along the line by third base, and it looked to be a neat single. Jack Lutgen made a living leep at the ball and just harely reached it. He quickly recovered himself and threw the man out at first base and the choors of the audience. Harry Platt mide a beautiful enter of a ball after running twenty-five yards. Eath Parlser and Goslinsky made fine catches, and Finish Wyms played a fine game on first, accepting the madest lind of chances.

Boynton of the Gantner-Matterns mide a beautiful running catch in right field. Peralia caught a star game and he mas certainly got his while back again. Harry Platt of the Josquins got two bits out of five, which will help his batting averages.

HEAVYWEIGHTS TO

WEINIG AND MILLETT AT THE RELIANCE CLUB TOMO ROW NIGHT.

Tomorrow evening Al Wainig, of Buffalo, and Joe Millett of Sin Francisco, will meet in the roped arena at the Reliance Athletic Club for a fifteen-round contest and from a l present indications, it will be one of the best contests ever seen in this ci y. Both are, light heavy weights and a ill weigh between 170 and 175 pounds. They signed to meet at catch weights and are now trained to the hour.

Both men are very confider t of success and each has a strong following that are ready to back up their man with cold cash. Today the betting assumed a lively turn, most of it being made at even money. It now seems doubtful that any better odds han even money will be offered on the contest, for it cannot be figured out by any logical means , that either of the men is better than the other, is better than the other.

Millett has always been a "hirlwind fighter and always assumes the aggressive, his usual plan of battle being to force the fighter at all stages and win out as quickly as possible. This has been his plan in all past bettles and he intends to do the same his time as it has always brought him success before.

most degrading of all human diseases is Contagious Blood Poison. The serpent sinks its fangs into the flesh and almost instantly the poison passes through the entire body. Contagious Blood Poison, beginning with a little ulcer, soon contaminates every drop of blood and spreads throughout the whole system. Painful swellings appear in the groins, a red rash and copper colored splotches break out on the body, the mouth and throat become ulcerated, and the hair and eye brows fall out; but these symptoms are mild compared to the wretchedness and suffering that come in the latter stages of the disease when it attacks the bones and more vital parts of the body. It is then that Containing Blood Pairson is seen in all its hideous body. It is then that Contagious Blood Poison is seen in all its hideousness. But Japan's danger from China was infinitely less than it is now from Russia. Not only is Russia's power vastly greater than that of the Chinese Empire, but her policy is far more fixed. Japan has vanquished one with another ten times more dangerous and powerful.

According to the dispatches Russia has 300,000 fighting men in Manchuria and around Vladivostock. She is mobilizing a fleet in Chinese waters that is superior to the entire Japanese navy. Her troops have crossed the tified posts in Corea. This shows that the Russian advance will not stop with possession of Manchuria, indeed it was never known to stop anywhere unless it was compelled to but it has no army or navy worthy of its public men venal and unpatriotic. Its independence has been preserved by its own weakness, for neither to possess it.

REDMOND'S ADVICE TO THE IRISH.

It is not surprising that John Redmond should desire to stop his countrymen from emigrating, but his statement that the poorest laborer in Kerry is happier than the majority of Irlsh workingmen in the United States is hilarlously absurd. Mr. Redmond was careful to use a term susceptible of different meanings, for he well knew that in the matter of family comfort or scale of wages the condition of workingmen nowhere to the British Isles is comparable to that of workingmen in America. In the Pasadena News Hon. W. S. Melick, Secretary of the State Board of Examiners, presents his views on the penological system in vogue in California, and points out remedies of the 'acknowledged evils that result from our prison management. His ideas on the subject are so well considered that we give his article in

"There is nothing that concerns our comfortable living so much as the care of our criminals; we are at we would have society protected we must have some system whereby the criminal will be kepi from society until he is at a fit condition to abide by the laws and live at peace with his fellow men."

"We favor, emphatically, in the conduct and care of the criminals humane and kindly treatment, using physical punishment only when necessary to maintain discipline. But the congregate system, where all are together in the same yard, young and old, bad and indifferent, is what we most complain of and protest against. The system has been abandoned by practically every other state in the

VI. SOLITARY CONFINEMENT: "The necessity of single cells and solitary confinement is well known by all who know about the bestial prac-

"Dr. Dwight, of Columbia Law School says: "When a man is convicted of a crime the judge should say, until you show to our satisfaction that you can be restored to freedom with safety to the community, your imprisonment must continue, and if you never give us that satisfaction you can never be released."

"In the tenth annual report of the Prison Commission of Massachusetts, we find these words: "The Indeterminate sentence throws round the prisoner every possible inducement for self government. He realizes that his future is in his own hands. He sees that the state is not punishing him arbitrarily for his crime, but is him arbitrarily for his crime, but is interested in his welfare: that he is deprived of his liberty, not so much on account of his act as on account of his character; and that his right to freedom is dependent upon his reformation, which in turn depends upon his own use of his opportunities. With such a view of his offense, he has every inducement to do his best, and many of them soon bull 1 up strong characters and are releasen.

'In 1876 Superintendent Bockway, of Elmira Reformatory, formulated a bill and got it passed by New York legislature providing for the indefinite sentence upon young men convicted of certain kinds of crimes. It has proven a decided success, Of the more than 3000 paroled from Flimira Reformatory, only 1½ per cent have been returned. setts, Minnesota, Maine. Louisiana and lilihois now have statutes providing for indeterminate sentence. California ought to fall into line.

"Says Professor Clarence Wassam, of lowa State University: The most wholesome effect of the inneterminate sentence law would be a reform in our prison system, for no one would think of having the law while our prisons are run as a great many of them are today. It would reveal the great need of better prisons, better officers and better discipline in our prisons, and with the revelation would come the reform. It would protect society by keeping the criminal dated prisons. It would replace the barbaric idea of retribution by the hopeful thought of reformation. of by no means secondary interest is the question, "Who will take his place?" for the position has a liberal salar attached to it, searching life $4.5 to a year. Two names are prominently mentioned, that of Master Car Repairer Faglebright of the West Onkind yards.

To Mr. Englebright, as well as to Mr. Tunner, is conceded the advantage that long years of service and experience beings. The former, however, has the added advantage of being at the present time in the prime of life, while the latter is well along in years. Of course there are other names mentioned, but the consum of the above-mentioned will get the place. Both Turner and Englebright are well known on this coast and have many friends in the railway world.

The communication in the college paper, which is signed "Boswell," follows:

"Editor 'Californian':—Knowing that your paper is an index of student opinion, I beg the use of your columns for a few observations made since last Priday.

"Every chicken-raiser in Petaluma knows that a certain average of the eggs in his incubator will prove unfertile. But it is rare, indeed, that the whole brood comes to naught. Such, however, has been the result of the latest incubation of 'Pelican.' Out of the latest incubation hovering over since the term began, not one seems to amount to anything.

"Some of them when cracked emit a decidedly bad odor.

"We are not sure who did the incubating, but we would suggest that before settling down on the nest again she rusticate awhile in Petaluma and learn a thing or two of the more successful egg fanciers there.

"An examination of the batch shows a strange collection of monstrosities. More or less of the eggs seem to have been stolen from other nests, with no credit given to the proper mother.

"Pelican' is undoubtedly a fine bird, but it should shed its pin feathers and moult its milk teeth before brooding again.
